SHOT DOWN BY HIS FRIEND.

Two Men Quarrel as to Who Shall Pay for a Drink and One is Probably Fatally Wounded.

Saturday afternoon John Anderson met Lynn Munson, a life-long friend, met in a saloon at Sheffield, Pa. The greeting between the men, who were under the influence of liquor, was extremely cordial. After a few words had passed the men quarreled over the privilege of purchasing the next drink. Without the least warning. Anderson drew a revolver and commenced firing at Munson, the bullets taking effect in his neck, shoulder and breast. Munson fell to the floor, it was supposed, fatally shot.

Anderson deliberately walked out of the saloon and sat down, after which he extracted the remaining cartridges from the revolver and then reloaded it. He then inquired if Munson was dead, and receiving no definite reply demanded an axe with which he could dispatch his victim. By strategy Anderson was overpowered and placed under arrest, to await the result of Munson's injuries.

Died Trying to Save Others.

Yound Hero Warns Other Miners to Flee From Danger.

Thomas Jones, aged 20, while giving warning to other workmen to get out of the way of a runaway car, was crushed to death at No. 2 shaft, of the Kingston Coal Company on Saturday. Young Jones had neglected to block a car, and it ran away. Unmindful of any danger to himself, he remained on the track, and gave warning to the other men to get out of the way, and was himself struck. His back was broken, and he died almost immediately.

James G. McClenathen of Danville, who sued the Williamsport & North Branch Railroad for $10,000 for his son's death, has compromised on $750.

PROFITS OF BASE BALL.

There can be no doubt that the National League Clubs, with a few exceptions, are better financially, this year than since the golden days of 1889. Below will be found what the several clubs cleared above all expenses on the season.

The Bostons will clear $50,000. The Baltimore's will make $25,000. Philadelphia is $50,000 ahead of the game. The Wagners have made about $20,000 at Washington. Cincinnati has proved a bonanza for John T. Bush who can this fall handle a roll containing $45,000. The Chicago with its Sunday games will clear $50,000, if not more. Cleveland's profit for the year will amount to $20,000. The Pittsburg club will, after all expenses, have close to $25,000. Louisville will make about $8,000 this year. St. Louis will be likely to pay expenses.

This gives some idea how much money is spent for this sport throughout the country.

Mrs. M. C. White, of Germantown, held a pad over a cut in her 4-year-old boy's mouth for seventy-two hours last week to prevent him from bleeding to death. The cut was a slight one, but the physicians could not stop the bleeding, and it was decided that the only way to save the child's life was to hold a pad over the cut until the wound healed. The mother promptly volunteered, and the pad was prepared. For three long days and nights Mrs. White held the pad against the roof of her child's mouth. He was kept alive on liquid food, and Mrs. White was fed by her mother. Doctors say that there are few much examples of endurance and devotion in the annals of the profession.

Elizabeth B. wife of James L. Evans Esq., of Berwick, and daughter of Frank E. Brockway of Beach Haven, died at her father's home last Friday afternoon at four o'clock. She had gone home on a visit, and while there a pimple appeared on her face. It rapidly grew worse, and blood poisoning resulted in her death. She was twenty-six years of age, and was a lady of many personal attractions, and had a large number of friends in Bloomsburg. She was a niece of Mrs. M. P. Lutz. The young husband has the sympathy of the community. The burial took place in Berwick on Monday afternoon, and was largely attended.

Mr. John Maloney, of Scranton, superintendent of the Telephone came to Bloomsburg last Friday morning to view the result of the tornado of last Wednesday, and to make some arrangements to repair the great damage done to the company's line.

The Bloomsburg and Sullivan Railroad Co. will arrange to run extra trains and sell excursion tickets during the Columbia County Fair. The Central Penna., and Western R. R. Co., have arranged to run a through train from Watsontown to Bloomsburg Oct. 15th, 16th, and 17th.

At no place can one realize the severeness of the recent tornado more than at Oak Grove. Large trees that have stood the storms for years have been torn up and lay flat on the ground.

A large crowd greeted the production of "Hogan's Alley," at the Opera House Friday night. The performance was above the average.

FOOT BALL.

Selinsgrove came here Saturday, no doubt with the intention of giving the Normal an object lesson in the art of playing foot ball, but went home with low spirits, as their scalps dangled from the belts of the Normal to the tune of 24 to 0. The game was an exceptionally rough one, and several of the Selinsgrove boys were knocked out before the first half was over. The visitors played fairly well at the start, and at one time were dangerously near the goal, but they lost the ball, and during the remainder of the game they were very easy.

Now that we have been visited by a hail storm, and a tornado, what will be the next. Some one says an earthquake.

A. V. Bower, Esq., of Scranton, will give a stereopticon lecture on "Michael Angelo," in the Methodist Tabernacle to-morrow night.

Some one should see that the tree on East Street is taken off the side walk. It was blown across the pavement by the storm and has laid there ever since.

Dan A. Kelly, who is well known to all theatre goers, will appear at the Opera House three nights next week, with a change of program nightly.

The Republican club will attend a rally at the Catawissa Opera House to-night, at which Ex-Judge Hinckley of Danville, and Mr. Mackey of New York, will speak.

McKillip, photographer, took views of the ruined buildings in Bloomsburg, as they appeared just after the tornado. They are on exhibition at his gallery.

Thousands of people have been without food in Florida since the cyclone and a special session of the legislature may be called to relieve the distress.

The managers of the York Fair will erect large tents in place of the buildings destroyed by the cyclone in order to hold their exhibition this year.

"MICHAEL ANGELO."

It will be a rare treat to hear Mr. A. V. Bower of Scranton, lecture in the Methodist Tabernacle next Friday evening Oct. 9th on "Michael Angelo." He has over seventy fine views and a powerful Stereopticon. All lovers of art will hail with delight the privilege of learning about this great "master" from one who has made his life and works a special study and of seeing on a mammoth screen the pictures of his greatest productions. Admission 25 and 15 cents. A season ticket admitting to this lecture and to that of Rev. S. Parks Cadman on "Life on London" for 50 cents. Single admission to Mr. Cadman's lecture 35 cents.

Prof. Cole of Kingston, predicts that October will be noted for its business failures all over the country, and that November will be a month of great prosperity. We hope his November prediction may come true.

The Salvation Army from Berwick held a meeting in front of Giger's Hotel, East Street, Saturday evening, they also conducted the meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Hall Sunday afternoon.

The town will no doubt be crowded at the annual exhibition of the Bloomsburg fair. Special attractions have been added, and it is the intention to make the largest exhibition in the history of the society.

Rev. J. N. Wagenhurst will preach a trial sermon in the Emanuel's charge on Sunday October 18 as follows: Strawbury Ridge Church at 10 A. M. and Heller's Church at 2:30 P. M.

The Archdeaconry of Williamsport will meet in St. Paul's church on October 26, 27 and 28. There will be twenty three clergymen in attendance. Members of the congregation who are willing to entertain one or more, are requested to notify the rector.

Rev. C. H. Brandt, pastor of Trinity Reformed Church went to Bethlehem, Pa., yesterday, to attend the one hundred and fiftieth annual session of the Eastern Synod of the Reformed Church in the United States, and expects to be gone about one week. He is a delegate from Wyoming Classis.

TWENTY YEARS DEAD

LITTLE REMAINS TO MARK A. T. STEWART'S ACHIEVEMENTS.

The Failure of Judge Hilton's Son Destroys the Last Vestige of America's Once Richest Man. His Grave Unknown; His Wealth Scattered as Atoms.

It is a trite saying, that in America it is only three generations from shirt-sleeves to shirtsleeves.

In all the story of business, which is part of the history of Manhattan Island, there is no sadder, no more overwhelming chapter than that which sets forth the building and breaking of the A. T. Stewart property as it is called to mind by the failure of Hilton, Hughes & Co., the successors.

It is well nigh three-quarters of a century now since an Irishman—kinless, portionless, for all he knew, save for the pack of college learning—landed in New York. He took a box of a place in Broadway below Chambers street and spread out there a little stock of Irish lace. It had cost him every dollar that he owned.

A. T. STEWART.

But the trade judgment of A.T. Stewart proved itself good. He sold $200 worth of the lace in a twinkling, and the house of Stewart was established. Elate over this omen of success, he framed a business motto thus: "Honesty, discretion, watchfulness, persistent labor."

His life, the last drop of his energy, brain and body, were always staked against his credit. Nobody should assail that at any cost. There should be no shadow on it.

He made money when other men were crying panic. In 1837, when most men could not borrow a farthing, Stewart enlarged his business. Ten years later there was no store in New York big enough to house the business he had set going. He built one! White-haired men of to-day remember how the New York of their time stared at that temple of trade at Chambers street, and more business hurried to make friends with so much thrift.

His agents were in every market in Europe: his customers were in every city and hamlet in America. He bought as he hired, cheaply. He sold as he talked, quickly. His employes were servants.

Stewart knew no sentiment but self. He was just. He gave to charities, but only so much as would make him known of men, bring him new trade, and, incidentally, make good his standing account with the Eternal. While he juggled with the prices of merchandise, he wept over the condition of the slaves in the South. He sent a shipload of provisions to Ireland—an advertisement that he could not otherwise have secured for quadruple the $50,000 it cost him.

And out of all this "honesty and watchfulness" new greatness came. The old apple woman who had sat on his doorstep had brought him luck, he said, and he must carry it uptown with him. Then, still trusting in the Almighty but "hustling" while he prayed, he built that giant store at Broadway and Tenth street, where recently the financial collapse occurred.

He gave $50,000 out of hand to aid the sufferers by the Chicago fire. He sent 4000 barrels of flour to Havre when France was writhing in the agonies of the German war. But it was all business.

Stewart built the marble palace at the corner of Thirty-fourth street and Fifth avenue. What millions it cost him no man, save perhaps Judge Hilton, ever knew. If one thing were more priceless than another, that Stewart bought to make his home the princeliest palace upon earth.

That was not all. He bade the greatest minds of the century to his board and they came. And he spread that accumulation of material and intellectual and artistic finery before the world and said: "This is all Stewart's." But he called it a "mere toy," and people marvelled.

Mr. Stewart died at half-past 1 o'clock in the afternoon of April 10, 1876, in the southeast corner room of the Thirty-fourth street mansion. He had been married fifty-one years, but he had no children, his two sons having died in infancy.

On November 7, 1878, Mr. Stewart's body was stolen from St. Mark's churchyard. The sensation that followed, the long search, the rewards offered and never claimed, the endless recriminations and scandals, were the sensations of that day. And so with the failure of a dry goods firm is broken the connecting link between the achievements of the richest man in America twenty years ago and the present. Nothing material remains, and memory is fast fading.

EXPERIENCE WITH A CENTIPEDE.

It Crawled the Length of a Man's Arm but He Dare Not Strike It.

I was opening a box of bananas and pushed my hand through the straw to get at the stalk. I felt around for a few seconds and thought I could feel something moving around on the back of my hand. I had often heard of the presence of centipeds in fruit shipments, so I carefully removed my hand so as to make as little commotion as possible. Imagine my surprise and alarm to see a five inch centiped slowly crawling up my arm to my coat sleeve. I was on the point of striking it off and jumping all over it when a fruit packer, standing near by, warned me to make no attempt to get rid of it, but to let it crawl off at its leisure. I know I got as white as a sheet, believing every moment that it would sink its claws into me and send its powerful poison through my blood.

I looked at it with fear and trembling but did not dare to move a muscle. It lifted its head and seemed perfectly satisfied to remain where it was. I could hardly restrain myself from making a quick motion and shaking it off, but my companion warned me again to keep quiet. All I could feel was a tickling sensation as the insect's legs quivered and felt around in every direction. The tickling increased, and I was almost ready to faint with suppressed excitement.

Finally the centiped looked up at my sleeve and slowly made for it, moving all the legs in unison. The sensation was by this time simply unbearable, and I feared I would be unable to remain calm until the thing got entirely off. My flesh seemed to shrink away as the horrid creature proceeded, but in a few more seconds, every one of which seemed an hour, it had settled itself comfortably on the fabric of my clothing, and with a motion quicker than I was ever known to make before, I routed it with a stick and sat down, perspiring from head to foot. It was the most thrilling experience I ever figured in, and it made me sick the rest of the day.

He is Not Licensed to Preach, but He Does So, Nevertheless, Effectively.

For twenty-five years D. L. Moody has been a faithful preacher of righteousness, although no Presbytery or council or bishop has set him apart for the ministry.

Most men would be satisfied to have done the evangelistic work which first made the name of Mr. Moody known throughout America and Great Britain, but the educational work which he is carrying on at Northfield, Mass., his native town and at Chicago would occupy all of the time and thought of men possessed of more than ordinary abilities. The preparations for the summer conferences, running over two months or more, and attended by thousands of people, and the responsibility of conducting them would lead the majority of men to ask for an extended vacation when the season closed.

DWIGHT L. MOODY.

Mr. Moody carries all these heavy burdens as easily as most men carry their lighter ones, and to them he has added another, which is considered one of the most important in his many-sided life.

Northfield gave the evangelist to the world, but Mr. Moody has given to the town a world-wide fame. He has established institutions which will be carried on by his friends and by those who have been educated there for generations to come; the influences started will never cease. Mr. Moody's father died in 1841, but his mother lived until a few months ago, more than 90 years of age. The son, whose name is best known of the family of nine children, went to Boston when he was 17 years old to be a clerk in the shoe store of his uncle. A person who knew him well in those days is credited with the following prophecy concerning him:

"He is very unlikely to become a Christian of clear and decided views of Gospel truth, still less to fill any extended sphere of public usefulness."

Should Have Reversed the Order of Things

In a certain Irish college the student at his oral examination has to give his answers from a pulpit before the Board of Examiners. Once a student, who had no mean opinion of his attainments, ascended the pulpit with a rather self-satisfied and hopeful air. The examiner determined to "lower" him a little, plied him with a series of "stiff" interrogations. Hardly a single correct answer was given, and when his time had expired he descended and returned to his place crestfallen and humiliated. "Now," said the victorious examiner when he caught the eye of his victim again, "if you had gone up as you came down you'd have come down as you went up."

Mrs. Oliphant, who has written seventy-eight novels, never writes in the daytime. She thinks the stillness of night conducive to good writing.

An editor comes in contact with many amusing articles for publication. Notice the following: Mr. Editor, I desire to thank the friends and neighbors most heartily in this manner for the united aid and co-operation during the illness and death of my late husband who escaped from me by the hand of death on Friday last while eating breakfast. To the friends and all who contributed so willingly towards making the last moments and funeral of my husband a splendid success, I desire to remember most kindly, hoping these few lines will find them enjoying the same blessing. I also have a good milch cow and a roan gelding horse of eight years old which I will sell cheap. God moves in a mysterous way His wonders to perform. He plants his footsteps in the sea and rides upon the storm. Also a black and white shote very low. —Ex.

BRYAN'S BROOKLYN SPEECH.

Candidate Bryan was greeted by an immense crowd at Brooklyn, N. Y., last week Wednesday. He made a speech which covers the ground so well that it is reproduced here: He said:

"Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen: I esteem it a great privilege to be permitted to defend the cause which has been espoused in this campaign, and I am glad to be permitted to present that cause to the people of Brooklyn. I only wish that that distinguished divine, whose name has added even to the fame of your great city, Henry Ward Beecher (applause) were with us to-day, that he might again champion the cause of the people in their great fight. (A voice: "No doubt he would.")

"Any man would, whose sympathies were on the side of humanity, my friends We have commenced a warfare against the gold standard, which will not cease until victory is won.

"Before addressing myself to the money question, I desire to say something in regard to these planks of our platform which have been assailed by the enemy. I only speak of them because persons, high in the Republican party, have called attention to them and sought to twist them into meanings not intended to be given them and an interpretation which they will not bear. Let me read to you the plank of the Chicago platform against which so much abuse has been leveled.

"We denounce arbitrary interference by Federal authorities in local affairs as a violation of the Constitution of the United States (applause), as a crime against free institutions.'

"That is the part which they say is bad. When did that become bad? Let me read a plank of another platform, and see how this plank which I am about to read compares with the one which I have read:—

"That the maintenance inviolate of the rights of the State and especially the right of each State to order and control its own domestic institutions according to its own judgment exclusively is essential to that balance of power upon which the operation and endurance of our political fabric depends, and we denounce the lawless invasion by armed force of the soil of any State or Territory, no matter under what pretext, as among the greatest of crimes.' (Applause.)

Do you know from what platform that plank is taken? (A voice: "From Abraham Lincoln's.") Yes, from Abraham Lincoln's (Applause loud and long); that is a plank in the platform of the Republican party of 1860, and when you compare our plank with that you will find that ours is mild in language compared to this one. (Applause.)

"Abraham Lincoln ran for President on that platform. He was elected President on that platform. (Cries of, "So will you be.') (Cries of, "I hope so.") And in his inaugural address he quoted that plank in full and reiterated it with his approval. (Cries of, "So will you.")

DEFENDS PLANK ON INCOME TAX.

"Now my friends, if our platform is wrong, I want these Republicans to repudiate Abraham Lincoln. (Applause.) Because if you take Abraham Lincoln from the Republican party' you have taken from it its most sacred memory, my friends. (Applause and cries of, "There will be nothing left.")

"Now let me call your attention to another thing which they complain of. They say we criticise the Supreme Court. Let me read you what we say on that subject. (Mr. Bryan then read the plank of the Chicago platform in regard to income tax decision.)

"I call attention to the fact that the court overruled the decision of 100 years. It is a fact. Have we not a right to mention a fact? We declare that Congress ought to use all constitutional powers which remain. Will they insist that, having taken part, we dare not use what they left? We demand that Congress shall use such powers as may come from the reversal by the court as it may hereafter be constituted.

"Has no court hereafter a right to reverse the decision of this court? If not, then what right had this court to reverse the courts of 100 years before it. (Applause.)

"This court changes from time to time; Judges die or resign, and new Judges take their place. Is it not possible, my friends, that future Judges may adhere to the precedents of 100 years instead of adhering to a decision rendered by a majority of one, and that one changed his mind? (Loud applause.)

"I have said before, I say again, that if, by the suffrage of my countrymen I am placed in that position which is the highest position within the gift of the people of the world, every law shall be enforced against the great as well as against the small. (Long applause.) It is not a fear of lawlessness, my friends. Think of men who have transgressed the law being afraid that there will be a lax enforcement of the law. Think of men who have considered themselves greater than the Government, who are afraid that the Government will not be great enough.

"I know why these men are afraid to have the Chicago ticket elected. It is because these great trusts, these great corporations, these great combinations, this aggregated wealth is enjoying unjust privileges. (Tremendous applause.)

"They know that the Attorney General, whom I will appoint if elected, will not stand there to defend the great corporations when he ought to enforce the law. (Great applause.) They remind me of the man in court, the prisoner, who seemed uneasy, and the Judge assured him that he need not worry, that he would get justice in that court, and he said: 'Great heavens! Judge, that is what I am afraid of.' (Laughter.) They say that we are trying to destroy our institutions.

"I want for a very few moments to call your attention to the present financial system and then explain to you what we desire to substitute in the place of this financial system.

"If our present financial system is good it ought to be kept. There is nothing too good for the American people (Applause), and if this is good we ought to keep it. Now, is it good? That is the question. (Cries of "No.")

"If it is bad, then we ought to abandon it, because the American people are good enough to have the best, my friends. (Applause.)

"Now, the present financial system is based on gold. The present financial system contemplates the retirement of greenbacks and Treasury notes and the substitution of bank paper for gold. The present financial system contemplates the retirement of all legal tenders.

"The present financial system, when run to its logical conclusion, contemplates gold only as the legal tender money of this country and bank paper only as the paper money of this country. The financial policy under which we are now suffering, therefore, contemplates a condition in which a few men will control the primary money. National banks will control the primary money. National banks will control the paper money, and the people will have nothing to say. (Applause.)

"I believe this Government has a right to use its silver dollars just as it uses its gold dollars. (Applause.) But our opponents have gone on a different basis and they have taxed the people of this country to pay interest of $262,000,000 of bonds in order to buy gold. (Applause.) (Cries of "Electioneering!") Well, do not use harsh terms, my friends. If you knew what great restraint it required on my part to speak within the limits of Parliamentary language (Laughter and applause) then you would understand."

Mr. Bryan then reiterated his former assertions about gold being taken from the Treasury with which to buy the bonds, and added:—

"And within a short time some of the very bonds which were sent across the ocean at 1.04½ in order to bring gold here came back and were paid for in gold at about 1.20. So that more gold went abroad than we got here. That is financiering. (Laughter and applause.) But this was not the worst thing about the Rothschilds contract. That was bad enough, but it was not the worst thing. The worst thing about that contract was that the Government hired these people to do the best they could do to protect the Government. (Laughter and applause)

"We found it a better plan than that. The Administration paid them a high price to try to get gold to come to this country. We have got a new device. We adopt a free coinage platform and nominate a free coinage candidate and then they bring gold here mighty quick. (Laughter and applause, loud and long.) If the Chicago convention does nothing more it certainly protects the Government and helps the Treasury for a long time out of the Rothschild-Morgan syndicate and all the rest of them. (Applause.)

INDORSED BY LABORING MEN.

About 8000 laboring men, representing the combined laboring interests of Brooklyn, assembled in Clermont Rink and gave Bryan a great demonstration. Resolutions were adopted commending the work of the Chicago convention and concluding:—

"Resolved, That we pledge our services unreservedly to the earnest and active support of the able young tribune of the people, William Jennings Bryan, for President of these United States, and we ask the support and earnest co-operation of all the toilers."

It was after 10 o'clock before Bryan came to the hall, and as he entered he was heartily cheered. In his speech he urged the importance of free coinage to the workingman.

Some Altitudes.

White Top, 5,530 feet, is said to be the greatest recorded altitude in Virginia.

The steeple of the famous cathedral in Strasburg rises to a height of 474 feet.

The Black mountain, 6,467 feet high, is said to be the highest in New Calcedonia.

Harney's Point is the highest recorded place in either of the Dakotas, 9,700 feet.

North Franklin mountain, 7,069 feet, is said to be the highest elevation in Texas.

Mount Fairweather, 14,450 feet high, is said to be the tallest elevation in Russia.

Wheeler, Nev., is 13,036 feet above sea level, and the highest town in that state.

Mount Jefferson, 15,500 feet high, is said to be the tallest in the state of Washington.

In New Mexico there are 30 mountain peaks rising above an altitude of 10,000 feet.

Box Elder mountain, in Oregon, 9,541 feet high, is said to be the loftiest in that state.

There are ten mountain peaks in Arizona, each of which exceeds 10,000 feet in height.

There are two or three lakes in Colorado more than 100,000 feet above the level of the sea.

There is no mountain 10,000 feet high on the American continent east of the Rockies.

Fremont's Point, at an elevation of 13,790 feet, is said to be the highest in Wyoming.

More Hard Nuts.

The Democratic nominee for the Presidency continues to give the Republicans hard nuts to crack. In his speech at Evansville, Ind., he said:

"As I came down the street here I noticed a picture showing the mints open in one place and the factories in another, and the Republican party assures the people it is trying to open the factories, while we are trying to open mints. Our policy means the opening of both mints and factories. The triumph of the Republican party means the closing of both mints and factories. (Applause.) How can the manufacturer sell goods unless the people are able to buy them? As long as you drive down the prices of farm products you make it impossible for the farmer to buy the products of the factories, and until he can buy you cannot open the factories. When they say they want to open the factories first, and then times will be good, it is putting the cart before the horse. It is like saying a man has a good wagon and runs well if he could only make the horse go. (Laughter.) People need clothing and other products of the factory. Why can't they buy them? Because when the farmer sells his crops in gold prices and pays his debts and taxes he has nothing left to spend at the store. (Applause.) We people who have been waiting for twenty years for better times are getting sick at heart because times get worse instead of better. What hope do our opponents give you? Do they tell you they are going to change conditions? No they tell you to simply grin and bear the conditions you have and thank God that you still have your appetite left if you have not anything to satisfy it. (Laughter.) That is carrying contentment too far. The Republican party does not offer any relief. It simply promises to keep the old standard as foreign nations insist upon it. They do not protest against the issue of bonds in time of peace, but are willing the taxpayers should be burdened year after year to pay the interest on these bonds." (Applause.)

The Potter Democrat says, "a young man and young woman of Coudersport are reported to have made a desperate wager. If Bryan is elected she will marry him, if McKinley is elected he will marry her.

SACRED CONFIDENCE.

NO WOMAN'S LETTER PUBLISHED EXCEPT BY REQUEST.

There is a class of women who, from their own experience, sympathize with their suffering sisters, and in order that such suffering may be lessened, no bly put aside false modesty and in heartfelt gratitude publish to the world whatevery woman should know.

Mrs. W. L. Elliott, Liscomb, Iowa, is one of those women, and has requested us to publish the facts in her case, otherwise it would not be done, as all such evidence is treated in sacred confidence, unless publication is requested by the writer.

She says to Mrs. Pinkham:—"I wish you would publish the circumstances of my case, in order that other women may be benefited by my experience.

"I doctored nearly all the time for two years. I spent several hundred dollars without receiving much benefit. Last June I wrote to you and described all my aches and pains. Such a long list as there was: headache, backache, bearing-down pains, terrible soreness, constipation, dizziness, feeling of extreme lassitude, irregularity and nausea; but you answered my letter and told me just what to do. I followed your advice.

"After taking eight bottles of the Vegetable Compound and three bottles of Blood Purifier, I am glad to write you that I have not enjoyed such good health for years, and I am able to do all my own work. I can surely sound the praises of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and a number of my friends are taking it upon my recommendation."—Mrs. W. L. Elliott, Liscomb, Iowa.

We never know the true value of friends. While they live, we are too sensitive to their faults; when we have lost them, we see only their virtues.

BRYAN PREDICTS ELECTION.

His Confidence Based on the Steady Growth of the Free Silver Sentiment.

William J. Bryan has no doubt of his election. He gave out a signed statement Saturday in which he says the defection of Republicans to silver is increasing every day, while that of Democrats to gold is rapidly diminishing. The statement follows:

I have no doubt of my election, and I base my confidence upon the fact that the free coinage sentiment is growing every day.

The people are studying the money question, and the study of it is convincing the people generally that there can be no permanent prosperity so long as the gold standard is maintained.

The gold standard makes a dollar dearer: a dearer dollar means falling prices and falling prices means hard times.

The people who profit by hard times are relatively so few in number that they would amount to nothing at all but for the fact that they are aided by a considerable number of people who, not having studied the money question themselves, have received instructions from a few financiers.

The number of Democrats who have declared for free silver outnumbers the Democrats who have deserted the ticket; and, while the number of silver Republicans is increasing all the time, the number of bolting Democrats is all the time decreasing.

While I have no doubt as to my election, I believe that every advocate of free coinage should work from now to election day to make the majority in the electoral college so large that no party hereafter will ever dare to propose submission to a foreign financial policy. W. J. BRYAN.

GOOD NEWS FOR DEMOCRATS.

Encouraging Reports to Washington Headquarters From Maryland, Michigan and Kansas.

The chairman of the state Democratic committee of Maryland reports to Democratic headquarters that Bryan will come to Baltimore city with a large majority. As to the city of Baltimore, the situation has improved every day and the city will go Democratic.

From Michigan the state Democratic committee reports: "In the last presidential election the Democratic vote in Michigan was 202,296, and the Republican was 222,708, showing a Republican plurality of 20,412. The Prohibition vote was 20,857, and that of the People's party 19,931, showing that on the whole vote the Republican party was in a minority of 20,376.

"In the present campaign there has been a thorough combination or fusion between the Democrats, Populists and a silver Republican organization, and the leaders and the rank and file of the broad gauge Prohibitionists are for free silver and Bryan and Sewall, although they have not yet withdrawn their ticket. There are at least 10,000 votes for Bryan among the Prohibitionists.

"While there is some defection from the Democratic party among gold Democrats, the Democratic and People's party vote is practically solid, and the chances of carrying the state for free silver without Republican aid are great. The Republican free silver vote will be very large, and, in any event, ample to give Bryan and Sewall a good majority."

Marsh Talks About Bob.

Ex-State Chairman J. Marshall Wright, surveyor of the Philadelphia port, made a speech before the Bimetallic league of Lehigh county, last week in which he defended the Chicago platform on the judiciary, and says the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has reversed its decision 1,200 times in the last three years. "Here is my brother Bob," he continued. "He goes to Washington and buys a bond for $1,000. They give him an interest-bearing bond at four per cent. He gets notes for the amount and then comes home and loans the money away and draws an additional six per cent. on that."

M'KINLEY'S CHANGE OF MIND.

They are beginning to apologize for McKinley because of his changed opinions on the currency, and point out a number of prominent American gentlemen who more or less violently changed their opinions during their political lives, saying it is "not regarded as a crime" for a man to so change his views.

Ordinarily it is not a crime, but in the case of McKinley it is as nearly a political crime as possible. The major did not change his views upon conviction but under compulsion, not swayed by argument but by expediency. He had been carefully groomed for the presidency, at the cost of much time and expense, and at the time the New York Sun was speaking of him as "Bill the Still" and other patriotic "Democratic" papers were anathematizing him for his silence on the currency he was trimming his sails for any coinage breeze that would most readily bear him toward the coveted goal, ready for a stiff breeze from either the gold or the silver quarter, willing to get there by tacking under capfuls of wind from both sides, and equally, ready to get out his oars and row without any currency wind from any direction or to make wind for himself.

If McKinley had changed his mind upon conviction he would be deserving of confidence, for a man who is not open to conviction is weak-minded. But any man who recalls the major's attitude before, during and immediately after the St. Louis convention knows that the candidate, who had been a free silver man, was a candidate first and a man with convictions according to circumstances created by his candidacy and his managers. His change of "belief," if it must be so called, does him no honor.—Patriot.

The New Ballot.

The new ballot contains nine columns, with the Republican party first. Then follow Democrats, Prohibition, National, People's, Socialistic Labor, Free Silver, Jeffersonian and a blank column in the order named. The sur-names of the Presidential candidates of each party are placed in the column just below the circle above the electors. To the right of the names of the candidates is a large square, in which the voter, by making a cross, votes for the entire thirty-two candidates for elector in that column. A voter desiring to vote for any other candidate below the electors in any other column will be required to put a cross mark opposite each name. This is the most convenient form of ballot that has yet been adopted in this State, and will be more easily understood than any form used in the past. Colonel Glenn of Auditor General's office, also has prepared for the State Committee a book of instructions to and duties of election officers under the general election law, which will be sent broadcast over the State this month by Chairman Elkins. It will contain copies of the new form of official ballot with instructions how to vote straight and split tickets. The book will also contain all the decisions of the law to date.

ASK BOTH TO RETIRE.

Philadelphia Citizens Appeal to Candidates Miles and Crow to withdraw

One of the startling features of the Republican campaign was the appearance Monday evening of a lengthy letter addressed jointly to James L. Miles and Alexander Crow, candidates for sheriff, and signed by seventeen of the most prominent Rupublicans in the city. The signers ask both gentlemen to withdraw as candidates because of the probable consequences to the national Republican ticket and permit a new candidate to be chosen by a reconvened convention. It is not yet known what action either Miles or Crow will take.

CARNEGIE TO CHANGE WAGES.

Army of Workmen at Homestead and Braddock Notified.

Notices have been posted at the Homestead mill and the Edgar Thomson works at Braddock of the Carnegie Steel Company, notifying the thousands of employees of an adjustment of the tonnage men, to take effect on January 1. Under the scale agreement both sides must give 90 days notice of any changes desired in the wages.

The men will raise no objection unless there is a serious cut in their pay, and this is not at all likely.

Columbia County Fair.

On account of the Columbia County Agricultural Society Fair to be held at Bloomsburg October, 13, 14, 15, 16 and 17 1896, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell Excursion Tickets on above dates to East Bloomsburg and return, for the benefit of persons desiring to attend this Fair.

A Bully Resists Arrest.

And the Officer Shoots Himself and a Woman.

In trying to effect the arrest of a furious Polish bully, named John Flomena, at Shamokin, Constable Jack Dando shot himself in the leg and also shot a Polish woman, Mrs. Maggie Pulsawicz, in the abdomen.

Flomena was wanted on a charge of assault. He knocked the constable down with a club and evidently intended to beat him to death, when the officer drew his revolver and fired four shots, two taking effect as stated, and the other two being harmless.

The entire police force went to the scene, but Flomena took refuge in a shanty and kept the officers at bay for several hours. A citizen got near the shanty and Flomena knocked him senseless with a club. The man was eventually captured by strategy and taken to jail at the muzzles of revolvers. He was committed for trial. Constable Dando and Mrs. Pulsawicz are in a critical condition.

Beaten and Robbed by Tramps.

While Samuel Morgan was on his way to his home in Sunbury Monday evening two tramps emerged from a side street and attacked him. He was choked into insensibility and robbed of his watch and several dollars. Morgan then went home and securing a revolver started out in search of the tramps. He tracked them to the Pennsylvania Railroad yards, where he attempted to shoot them. The weapon failed to go off and the tramps again assaulted Mr. Morgan, hitting him over the head with a coupling pin. Morgan was found unconscious later in the evening by several railroaders.

Dragged by a Speeding Train.

When a passenger train on the Buffalo & Susquehanna Railroad stopped at Austin, Potter County, Friday, blood was discovered spattered over the brake rod of the baggage car. It was subsequently learned that an unknown man had boarded the train at Keating Summit, and during the ride up through the mountains he was jolted down between the cars.

In some way his trousers leg caught the brake beam, and his body, face downward, went dangling along over the ties. Marks on the track showed that the man had been dragged two miles in this manner. His mangled body was beyond identification.

A "Jag" Breaks Up The Court.

A drunken man stopped the progress of the United States Court at Williamsport on Monday. Edward C. Brown, who was an important witness in a post office robbery case, appeared in Court in an intoxicated condition. District Attorney Hall called Judge Buffington's attention to the matter, and Brown was sent to jail for three hours to sober up. Then Court adjourned until Brown got sober.

A GREAT EVENT.

The event of the season is the Bloomsburg Fair. The event of the fair is J. W. Guernsey's exhibit of Pianos and Organs. The stock will comprise the products of the best factorys and the prices during fair week will be greatly reduced. If you are in need of a musical instrument don't let this opportunity pass.

The musical feature of the State Sunday School Conventions has always been an interesting one; this year, as on a former occasion, it will be in charge of Professor and Mrs. J. J. Lowe, both of whom are singers of repute and have great attractiveness. Professor Lowe will conduct all of the musical exercises of the Convention, October 13 to 15, to be held at Carlisle, where a large gathering is sure to be found in attendance. Dr. C. J. Kephart will send to those who desire it a souvenir program, now in press, and any particulars desired with regard to the Convention, to those who desire to arrange for entertainment.

The Sadest Calf in the World.

J. Pierpont Morgan's three-legged dog has a rival. This is a three-legged freak calf, born in a Pennsylvania town, with the freak name Shickshinny. Shickshinnites have felt for many years that they had something out of the ordinary coming to them. They feel now that it has come.

The triped belongs to S. C. McDaniels. Five months ago his faithful family cow presented him with Ben. Ben is the name of the calf that has become famous for being not like other calves.

His right leg is entirely missing. Both hind legs are perfectly formed and placed. His left foreleg is also just as perfect as any calf's, but it is almost in the middle of his body. All the ribs are naturally formed, reaching all the way to the neck. There is not even the trace of a shoulder blade on the right side.

The calf weighs 250 pounds, and can run and play as lively as any calf with a full set of legs. Stone piles and ditches are not obstacles to him—he frisks over them, tail high in the air, using his fore leg on the principle of a jumping pole. He has been much petted, and follows the members of the McDaniels family about like a dog.

At the tender age of four weeks Ben left his mother and went with his master on a jaunt about the surrounding country, attracting considerable attention and earning considerably more than his living expenses, thanks to the willingness of Americans to pay to see freaks. He has not missed a meal in his life, and is unusually strong and healthy.

Hypnotists Liable.

A Georgia Judge Holds the Operator Responsible for His Subject's Acts.

If the ruling of Judge Foule, of Atlanta, obtains, hypnotists will have to be very careful what they order the subjects to do. The Judge holds that the hypnotist is directly responsible for the acts of his subjects. It is the first case where such a decision has been rendered.

During a performance at a local theatre the subject of Hypnotist Lee imagined he was a monkey and grabbed the hat of a man in the audience, biting a piece out of it. The professor and his business manager declined to make good the cost of the tile and the hypnotist was prosecuted before Judge Foule upon a charge of malicious mischief. The Judge sustained the charge and bound Lee over to a higher court.

Our I's and.... ....Other Eyes.

Our I's are just as strong as they were fifty years ago, when we have cause to use them. But we have less and less cause to praise ourselves, since others do the praising, and we are more than willing for you to see us through other eyes. This is how we look to S. F. Boyce, wholesale and retail druggist, Duluth, Minn, who after a quarter of a century of observation writes:

"I have sold Ayer's Sarsaparilla for more than 25 years, both at wholesale and retail, and have never heard anything but words of praise from my customers; not a single complaint has ever reached me. I believe Ayer's Sarsaparilla to be the best blood purifier, that has been introduced to the general public." This, from a man who has sold thousands of dozens of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, is strong testimony. But it only echoes popular sentiment the world over, which has, "Nothing but words of praise for Ayer's Sarsaparilla."

Any doubt about it? Send for "Curebook" It kills doubts and cures doubters. Address J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

LITTLE AFFAIRS OF LIFE.

But of Momentous Import for the Instant to Those Most Concerned.

It flew straight up to the shoulder of the Statue of Liberty, rested there, and while the ticket taker, the battle scarred soldier and the attendant who falls frequently into the bay from the boat because the pilot conspires against him, craned their necks to follow the flight with anxious eyes, disappeared.

It was a glorious bird of freedom, a golden eagle, held captive at the base of Liberty's Statue by the janitor of Bedloe's Island, New York bay. This eagle's cage was only a box, latticed, and supplied with a parrot's perch. Near this cage was the short post, fitted with a ring and chain attached to Jack, a monkey.

Jack is a small marmouset, and would, if he could, do nothing but run after spiders, beetles and butterflies, but the visitors to the island tease him. The eagle liked caterpillars, whereof Jack is afraid, and so Jack did to the eagle what Jack's visitors do to him. He teased it. He plucked feathers from its tail, threw shells at its head, made mounds of decayed fruit and vegetables before its cage, jumped on its neck when it gazed at the sun, and lost no chance to make it ridiculous. At these antics frivolous visitors laughed. But a day came when the eagle broke from his cage. He buried his talons in the reddish fur on Jack's back and plucked the hair of his neck with its beak. He carried the monkey as high up as the length of his chain would allow, pulled with its might in the hope of breaking the links, and then dropped it with a screech of triumph. The eagle has not been seen since its flight, but the monkey is recovering its absurd sense slowly.

An athletic old colored man, who in his youth was employed in a sugar refinery in New Orleans, is now a helper in a Buffalo bicycle store.

The other day there came a new pupil to the store. It was a lady past forty, still quite fair but undeniably fat. She stated her case very diffidently; said she thought she was past the bicycle riding age, and she feared she would never succeed in mastering the wheel, but the family doctor had prescribed a bicycle. So there was the position in which she was placed.

It was Uncle Eph who was assigned to give her her first lesson. No cavalier could have been more gallant. He showed her how to mount and what to do with her hands and feet. Then for one hard-working hour the mighty old Hercules kept that wheel upright, to the admiration of the streetful of people who saw him.

After the lesson was over the pupil thanked him profusely. "I'm so heavy," she said, apologetically, "and you held me up the whole time. I'm afraid I must have tired you dreadfully!"

"Law, ma'am," said Uncle Eph, with the bow of a Chesterfield, "I ain't a bit tired. You see, I uster wuk in New Orleans, an' I got use ter totin' barrels o' sugar.

Sadie Isaacs is an extremely pretty eighteen-year old girl. She has a mass of jet black curly hair, big black eyes and a complexion browned by the sun, for she is devoted to the wheel; in fact, she has been devoted to several.

On the 13th last the bicycle beauty had a busy day. She went to a Brooklyn store about 1 o'clock and hired a $100 bicycle, on which she said she proposed to take a spin to Coney Island. An hour later she tripped into a hardware store on upper Third avenue and said she must sell her bicycle to provide for her sick mother. She got $15. At 3 o'clock the same day she slipped into the store of Norbert Horn, and hired another wheel.

Next day, while passing the place of Jacob Webmondt, Mr. Horn recognized, exposed for sale, the wheel which he had rented to the bicycle beauty the day before. He was informed that the machine had been purchased for $8 from a pretty girl whose sick mother was in need of help.

Detective Murphy arrested Sadie, but when the case was called Miss Sadie fell upon her knees, and with flowing tears, pleaded for leniency. Horn's heart was touched. So was that of the Magistrate. Horn asked permission to withdraw the charge. The Magistrate gently admonished Sadie; the weeping old mother refunded the money to Mr. Webmondt, and Sadie was discharged. It was not known at that time to any one in the court that Price & Muller had lost a wheel, nor did they know at the police station that the wheel on which the bicycle beauty gayly rode away was also not her own. These facts came to their knowledge later. It was also learned that she had sold the third machine and fled to Coney Island. Later at night Murphy saw the young woman sauntering down the Coney Island Bowery, clad in gorgeous attire. She ran on catching sight of him, but was eventually captured in the "Streets of Cairo."

When again called to the bar she repeated her affecting performance. But it was all to no purpose, for she was held.

WASHINGTON.

From our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2, 1896.

Mr. Bryan's supporters find nothing discouraging in the situation. On the contrary, they have excellent reasons for believing that Mr. Bryan's chances for election are better than those of Mr. McKinley. These reasons are not entirely based upon reports made to the managers of Mr. Bryan's campaign, although there is no doubt of the trustworthiness of those reports as a rule. Those democrats who are careful not to allow their wishes to become tangled up with their judgment have been making a study of the figures put out by the more conservative supporters of McKinley and have thereby strengthened their belief in Bryan's success. The latest of these tables appeared on the editorial page of the Washington Post, which is strongly for gold. It gives Bryan 205 electoral votes, McKinley 140, and puts 102 in the doubtful column. To accept this table as correct is to be sure that Bryan will be elected, as the 102 electoral votes classed as doubtful, of which Bryan must get 19 to be elected and McKinley must get 84, are made up of the following states: Illinois, Oregon, California, Maryland, Delaware, West Virginia, Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin and Iowa. It is a very conservative claim to say that Bryan will certainly carry more than five out of these ten states, which would elect him with votes to spare, if the rest of the table be all right, and there is no doubt about that, as with the exceptions of Indiana and Nebraska, it only includes in the Bryan column states which are conceded to Bryan by the republicans.

Hon. W. E. Chilton, Secretary of State for West Virginia, was one of the party which came to Washington to escort Mr. Bryan to that state. While in Washington Mr. Chilton said: "I am not afraid of the result in West Virginia, and have no hesitation in predicting that Bryan will get its electoral vote. Our people are strongly for silver, and many converts have been made from the republican ranks. The Palmer and Buckner ticket will not poll much of a vote. The republicans are making the most strenuous efforts for McKinley, and the allegations of coercion and intimidation of railway employes are strictly true. But there is always a reaction against such methods, and a feeling of resentment arises in the minds of the men who are thus coerced that will result in causing hundreds of them to vote the other way."

Gen. W. J. St. Clair, of W. Va., was in Baltimore with Mr. Bryan, and who passed through Washington this week, said: "I found a degree of Bryan enthusiasm in the City of Baltimore that was rather surprising, in view of the tone of its bolting democratic newspapers. The talk about McKinley's great majority in the Maryland metropolis is all nonsense."

Senator Gorman's disinclination to make ante-election claims and promises adds force to what he told Mr. Bryan and the other gentlemen who participated in the conference held in New York City this week. He promised that Mr. Bryan should have the electoral vote of Maryland, and he said that he considered that the democrats still had an even chance to win, notwithstanding the influences that were being used against them.

Democratic confidence, which has been fairly good from the beginning of the campaign, has greatly increased since the conference in New York this week, participated in by Messrs. Bryan, Sewall, Chairman Jones, Senator Gorman and other democratic leaders. At that conference every aspect of the campaign was carefully considered, and the deliberate and unanimous conclusion of those present was that Mr. Bryan was making a great campaign and that unless something not now expected should occur to change the drift of public sentiment in favor of the free coinage of silver he would be elected with a number of electoral votes to spare. It did not take long for this opinion to spread among the rank and file and the result has been a natural increase in democratic confidence which cannot fail to make itself felt in the work of the campaign.

Senator Faulkner has been getting some very cheering news this week from all around, but that which pleased him most has come from Michigan, California, Iowa and Kansas, which are claimed by some republicans and put in the doubtful column by others. According to Senator Faulkner's advices neither of them will be carried by McKinley. The democratic state committee of Michigan reports that state to be absolutely safe for Bryan, and gives the figures to back up the claim; reports from California say that it is now only a question of the size of the majority Bryan will get in that State; Iowa is considered so safe for Bryan that its prominent stump speakers are being sent into other states, and a poll of Kansas gives Bryan the state by 50,000 majority.

Having finished a most successful season, the sea serpent has retired for the winter.

A Polish row from Centralia was next heard. The Court in charging the jury said that parties who get intoxicated and are injured have no right to come into court and redress their grievances. In cases like this it is wrong that the time of the court is occupied in their hearing. Were there any evidence in this case to show that the constable, or justice of the peace encouraged this prosecution, we say to you that you have a right to put the costs upon the power behind the throne. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty and that each party pay one half the costs. The court sentenced each party to pay half the costs or give bail to Sheriff to do so in ten days.

The bill of costs in the division of Briarcreek township was filed.

Commonwealth vs. Michael Lucas, charge, stabbing Joseph Lenark with intent to kill. Another Centralia case, verdict, guilty of assault and battery.

GRAND JURY REPORT.

That we have investigated all bills of indictment presented for our consideration and have passed upon them according to their respective merits. We have also examined the public buildings and find some plastering and painting much needed in the jail building, also about a dozen bed cots to replace the old ones which are not fit for use. Also we find in the Register and Recorder's office that there are two radiators needed to have it properly heated.

Commonwealth vs. John McNamara, horse stealing. Case tried, verdict guilty. Sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs of prosecution, and be imprisoned in penitentiary for two years.

Commonwealth vs. Fred Michael, malicious mischief. Boy of unsound mind, verdict not guilty, and defendant taken charge of by Briarcreek Poor District.

In the case of Warren Klinger, convicted of the larceny of harness, he was sentenced to pay a fine of $10, the costs of prosecution, and undergo imprisonment in the county jail for sixty days.

Michael Lucas, convicted of stabbing Joseph Lenark, at Centralia, was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution, and undergo imprisonment in the Eastern penitentiary at labor for two years and the Sheriff to be allowed one assistant.

Albert Leinberger, who plead guilty to the charge of gambling, was given a fine of $100, the costs of prosecution and three months in the county jail. Leinberger, or "Cheesy" as he is better known, attempted to show the Court just how the matter was done. He used two tin lids and small pieces of cork and manipulated them in a manner which showed that he was no novice.

The Grand Jury, on the application for county bridges, made the following reports: The application for a bridge over Chilisquaque creek near Jacob Wintersteen's was disallowed, and the application for a bridge over the same creek near A. C. Smith's was approved.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever: nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars; free.

They Get It.

"I want a dollar that is worth a dollar," shouts the fool farmer, and he hauls two bushels of wheat to market that have cost him $1.40 to produce—and gets it.

"I want a dollar that is worth a dollar," yells the silly planter, and he carts to market 15 pounds of cotton that have cost him $1.30 to make—and he gets it.

"I want an honest dollar," howls the laboring man, and he does $2 worth of work—and he gets it.

"I want an honest dollar," shrieks the hide-bound merchant, and he advertises his goods at panic prices—and he gets it.

"I want the earth and all that is on it," says the money owner, and he quietly makes his notes and mortgages payable in gold—and he has almost got it.

But the people of the United States, just now, are listening with serious, even dangerous, attention to the summary of John A. Logan:

"You may theorize and argue until you are hoarse, yet you will fail to get the people to perfer low prices to high ones for their products. They know that one bushel of wheat at $1.25 in currency will buy one acre of Government land, while it takes two and a half bushels at 50 cents to purchase it, though it be gold. They know that $1 in paper, if legal tender, will pay $1 of taxes as well as $1 in gold. They know well enough from experience that if you run down prices by lessening the currency there will be no corresponding decrease in taxes and salaries of county, state and municipal officers, nor in the debts they owe."

"I was troubled for a long time with an itching humor on the scalp," says Mr. D. P. Davis, Neal's Landing, Fla., "but at last, being recommended Ayer's Hair Vigor, I tried it, and a complete cure was effected." Everyone who has used it speaks well of this dressing.

Tour to the South via Pennsylvania Railroad.

The last of the very attractive early Autumn tours offered by the Pennsylvania Railroad will leave New York and Philadelphia October 13.

After the experience of the past few years it is hardly necessary to say that these outings are planned with the utmost care. Suffice it to say that all arrangements are so adjusted as to afford the best possible means of visiting each place to the best advantage.

The tour covers a period of ten days, and includes the battlefield of Gettysburg, picturesque Blue Mountain, Luray Caverns, Basic City, the Natural Bridge, Grottoes of the Shenandoah, the cities of Richmond and Washington, and Mt. Vernon.

The round-trip rate, including all necessary expenses, is $55 from New York, $53 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other points.

The tour will be in charge of one of the company's Tourist Agents. He will be assisted by an experienced lady as Chaperon, whose especial charge will be ladies unaccompanied by male escort.

Special trains of parlor cars are provided for the exclusive use of the party, in which the entire round trip from New York is made.

For detailed itinerary apply to Ticket Agents or to Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York, or Room 411, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

This issue is enlarged and bound in a beautifully printed cover, and is replete with illustrations and reading matter pertaining to the X-mas holidays. It is sold for 20 cents a copy. The Van Vredenburgh alone in this one number is worth more than the price of a year's subscription. It is the cutest picture we have seen and appeals to every lover of art and to everyone who is fond of dogs. Any of our readers who wish this beautiful picture can, by cutting out this notice and sending it to the Demorest's Magazine, 110 Fifth Avenue, New York, with 20 cents in stamps, receive it by mail, carefully packed, and at the same time a copy of the X-mas Demorest. The magazine, by the way, has been phenomenally successful during the past year, having increased its subscription list to 180,000 names—a clear gain of 100,000. There must be something in a magazine that can do that.
